STOCK MARKET COMMENT.

A Week's Developments as They Will Influence the Future.

The Menning of the Copper Situation-No Reason to Consider It a Reflection on the Country's General Prosperity-The Steel Dividend.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.-The past week most be considered a most important one despite the smallness of its business, be-cause of the influence which its develop-ments are certain to have on the future of the stock market. There were two principal divergent movements in the unrket the further very sharp break in the copper stocks in the earlier part of the week, and, fee steady ad time in all of the so-called Vanderbilt issues.

The downward movement in the copper stocks appears virtually to have culmi-nated in Monday's exceedingly sharp break of over 7 points in Amaigamsted. The latter company is purely a proprie-tary concern, but it was noted that the shares of its constituent companies, which are actual producers of copper, broke with relative violence also. Copper stocks on the European exchanges also suffered severe losses in common with the break in American copper securities, helpe it would seem that the trouble with these shares is fairly universal. At the same time. little definite information is available so far as the public is concern-ed, and the latter must perforce rely alavailable so far as the public is concerned, and the latter must perforce rely almost entirely upon the assertions of experts in the trade. Just what the disproportion is between production and consumption at the moment it would be difficult to determine. That there is a disproportion is indicated clearly enough in the sharp break in copper in the London. proportion is indicated clearly enough in the sharp break in copper in the Lundon metal market. There has been no such proportionate local decline in the metal, but its firmness here is generally believed most active stocks. to be owing to artificial manipulation Apparently, the high prices which hav prevailed for copper have resulted in a undue production of the metal and hav made profitable the operation of a larg nur,ber of small companies producing comparatively low grades of ore, but which are, at the same time, outside of the control of the so-called trust.

It seems rather strange that a stock en the maintenance of the dividends on almost total in Kansas and Ok that common stock. Any uneasiness that might have existed in this respect was, however, allayed by the publication of a semi-official statement this week setting fortis the encouraging fact that the net revenues of the company had been but little impaired by reason of the strike and that there was no question as to the declaration of the usual quarterly dividends. These assurances were particularly timely in view of the uneasiness created by the developments in the Copper stocks, for speculative confidence is particularly sensitive at the present time. As a satural result of the long series of unfortunate happenings of the past five medits.

Community of interest between the Atchison and the Harriman interests has just been established, in so far as the Facilic Ocean or Oriental traffic is concerned. Instead of the Santa Fe establishing an independent Pacific Ocean line from San Francisco, or making an arrangement with the Hamburg-American Steamship Company, as has heretofore rangement with the Hamburg-American Steamship Company, as has heretofore been reported negotiations have just been concluded whereby it will discontinue its San Diego occan line on February I. 1992, and will, jointly with the Southern Pacific, use the Pacific Mai Steamship Company for its trans-Pacific outlet. Under the new arrangement with the Pacific Mail Steamship Company the Santa Fe is given equal rights with the Southern Pacific Railroad and is guaranteed a certain percentage of the Oriental traffic. It would seem that this arrangement should be a most advantageous one for all concerned. The Pacific Mail Company will undoubtedly derive much additional revenue from the deal.

citing Game. CHICAGO, Sept. 28.—The Brooklyn team made its list appearance here today and defeated Chicago in a close and exciting game. Several times a hit by one of the home team would have won the game, but it never came. Jay Hughes pitched for Brooklyn and Tom Hughes for Chi-cago. Both pitched in good form, but the Eastern man was given the better sup-port. The score:
